It is both difficult and prestigious to receive the "Superior Taste Award" from 7 different juries for 7 years, Since 2013, Selva has been awarded with the "Superior Flavor Award" successively, by receiving more than 90 points each year. In 2019, Selva received its 7th taste award and thus awarded to be the World Diamond Award-winning Pasta.

Selva: The first subsidiary of Ittifak Holding

The history of Ittifak Holding starts with Selva. Selva Gıda is the oldest company of the Holding. The company entered into the food industry in 1988 with production of flour. It the first steps to grow by establishing the 2nd flour mill in 1993. In the following years, respectively the production of semolina and pasta started and became an exporter to over 90 countries on 5 continents today. The details such as the technological infrastructure, quality understanding, variety of products etc... developed during this rapid growth, accelerated Selva Gıda.

Selva is a company, that closely follows the technology and has significant investments to keep up the quality always updated. In this context, Selva's first flour mill was launched as a TÜBİTAK Project. Today, it has a facility with a production capacity of 350 tons semolina /day and of 120 tons flour / day. All processes starting from admission of raw materials to the output of final products are managed over computerized systems. The capacity and efficiency of the facility is carefully monitored with tracking devices continuously. Quality control of products is performed through modern laboratories and is kept under control until the point of sale.

Selva's pasta plant with an average production capacity of 210 tons/day is the most state of art facility in Turkey. The production lines established with Italian technology are completely controlled by computers. Selva products are packed with packaging units of German Bosch technology. All products transferred from production to packaging stage is wrapped, packed and stacked on palletes by robots and prepared to reach the consumer. Moreover, the quality control of the products is carefully performed by high-tech laboratories, and the products are delivered to the customers in the healthiest conditions.

Using the technology in every stage of the production, Selva produces its own electric and heat energy used in its facility through the in-house cogeneration plant and saves energy costs.

Production Technology that provides the same quality and the same Flavor 4 seasons long

The ISO 22000 Food Safety Management Systems and ISO 9001 Quality Management System awarded by internationally accredited bodies are implemented strictly at the facilities of Selva. Pursuant to ISO 9001 and 22000 systems, the measures for hygiene and health conditions for production areas are kept firmly under control. In addition to sanitation team employed by the company, getting also service from a professional sanitation company, is also controlled by another sanitation organization regularly. Hygiene and health conditions of Selva manufacturing plant are checked by monitoring systems. The dust from outside is prevented to enter into the production area by HVAC system via the production of positive air pressure. Every single Selva product is passed through the metal detector and scales with great care. The production and expiry dates and packaging time, the initials of the packaging operator are printed on each Selva package. Thus, product traceability is extremely easy.

180 types of products in 15 categories

Selva, setting off only with flour production in 1988; became a "grain oriented" food company that develops itself, its technology and its products the technology. Selva Gıda, caring about human life and producing healthy products that do not harm the human and environment under this motto, has a product range consisting of more than 180 products in 15 categories today.

Today, as being healthy and preserving the health becomes more important from day to day, Selva stands out from its competitors through its functional product groups that contribute to healthy living.

'Real Food'

Within the living conditions, where being healthy and preserving the health becomes harder every day; Selva, producing grain based "real food", works on sustainable competitive advantages. The Company, differentiating, distinguish itself from its competitors, continuously paying strict attention to create a brand value, produces foodstuff that over-identified with human health for growing healthy generations.

Nowadays, the naturalness of food is increasingly lost due to commercial concerns, our company adopted the principle to offer always pure, healthy, 'Real Food' to its consumers. According to the Company, attracting the attention recently, especially because of its functional products, 'real food' cannot be produced without the three features below;

- The first priority of the real food is being nutritious and healthy. Despite of the wrong perception that healthy food is unsavory, 'Real food' is tasty because its nature is preserved.
- The real food does not only preserve its natural structure during production, but also it is produced without damaging the environment and nature during the production.
- The health of the future generations and entire mankind is very valuable. So when it comes to the 'real food', it can be achieved by reasonable and achievable price parity and consumed by all walks of life.

In summary, Selva continues to sustain its differentiation with its production of nutritious, healthy, useful "real food" products, produced without any side effects and harms to the environment and nature but tasty at the same time.
